

The Indiana legislation has worked very well for us. The calls at dinner etc are now non-existent. My wife was thrilled with the improvement, then there was a court challenge to screw it up and now we get help from the Feds!!

It would be wonderful if you could manage to do one of two things:

1. Let the states manage this problem, Indiana could be a role model
2. Use the Indiana legislation as a standard

DO NOT GO BELOW THE INDIANA STANDARD.

I could just imagine every company I ever did business with now being a funnel for new activity.

If I had some kind of credit firm, I would sell access to anyone who wanted to continue calling people - THAT IS A GIANT LOOP HOLE

It would be nice if the Federal Government would stick to doing what it does well - what ever that is. I don't need you in my pants every day!
